Agribusiness Manager Ratings

AAG's market leading research in the Agri Managed Investments Sector enables us to provide Manager Ratings. This data is derived from our alliance with Ernst & Young and their Corporate Governance Rating and AAG's own rating of Track Record.

This is the first time that Manager Ratings have been compiled and represents another first for AAG and the agri MIS sector.

Planners and investors can use this data to assist them in selecting Managers of agri tax effective products.

Corporate Governance covers the following areas of review and rating: financial management, compliance, operational performance and governance. Track Record covers the following areas of review and rating: management, past projects, markets, marketing and project financial performance.

How a business is managed and governed, and the results it has achieved over the time and fundamental pillars of Manager performance and an excellent guide to a quality Management team. Companies not rated by AAG are listed at the bottom of the page.

"The information available to planners and investors from AAG allows for a rational, commercial manager and hence investment selection", said Marcus Elgin, Managing Director of AAG. "We recommend however, that investors spread risk of management, commodity and geographic region of growing to create a blend of risk and return".

Corporate Governance and Track Record ratings can be found below on managers with current retail offerings. The tables are sorted by star rating and then alphabetically if managers receive the same rating. The full reports behind the ratings can be accessed from www.ausagrigrp.com.au.

"AAG prefers to rate managers that represent the quality end of the industry" Elgin said. "Some of the companies we have not rated may fall into this category and we look forward to doing this work in the future".
